IN PRAISE OF MR. KINKEL. The Kings County Board of Supervisors for 1893 The Kings County Board of safety afternoon. There was a debate over the question of engrossing and framing resolutions of respect for the retiring Supervisor-at-Large, George Kinkel. Supervisor McKeown (Dem.) opposed the appropriation of the money on the ground that it was illegal to expend the money in this way. In the decate Supervisor McKane (Dem.) took occasion to commend the ourse of Mr. Kinkel, and urged the adoption of the usual custom of engressing and framing the resolutions. THE DEMANDS OF THE MEN NOT GRANTED. EMPLOYES OF THE BECOKLYN CITY RAILROAD DECLINE TO RENEW THEIR AGREEMENT

WITH THE COMPANY-A STRIKE AT PRESENT NOT LIKELY.

The street railroad employes took action yesterday in regard to the refusal of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company to accede to the thousand Chy These were for an increase to $2.25 a day for all regular men, the hours of work to be ten within the period of twelve hours; that no men be discharged without cause, and that the cause be a just one, to be proven to a committee of the employes, and that the hours for meals be arranged to better suit the convenience of the men. The sec retary told them that the company could not afford to increase pay; that the company was too desirous to have the electric cars handled properly to permit the men a voice in selecting metormen, and would continue to take the same precautions for safety as formerly, and that the third demand could not be granted without interfering with the service.

tions for safety as to granted without interference with the service.

The committee of the men refused to sign a renewal of the agreement, which expires on Sunday. After further conference with the company the committee withdrew. It is understood that no immediate strike is probable, although the men are well organized, and they say that they are well prepared to support themselves if they quit work. There is plenty of money in the treasury, and few members are behind in their dues. But from time to time the demand for more wages will be made and if it is not granted a sudden strike will be decided upon at a moment when the company is un prepared for it, and when the streatest difficulty will be found in securing motormen. Every new will be found in securing motormen. Every new
